GLORIA DEI VOLUNTEER SPOTLIGHT

CELEBRATING OUR VOLUNTEERS

- Paula Laugen -

"I would tell people who are thinking of volunteering to just jump in and start small. You'll never regret getting involved. It can lead to friendships and growing your faith. You learn something new everyday. I've never, not once, gone to church and come home and thought, 'I wish I didn't go'. Not ever."

"Each of you should use whatever gift you have received to serve others, as faithful stewards of God's grace in its various forms."
-1 Peter 4:10

Meet Paula. She has been a member of Gloria Dei for over 30 years. In her time at Gloria Dei, Paula has faithfully served in many volunteer roles. Paula brings with her a feeling of kindness and acceptance for others, and a heart for serving Jesus faithfully. As the clock ticks gently on the wall and with the background noises of a bustling church atmosphere behind us, Paula speaks of the many roles that she has enjoyed volunteering for at Gloria Dei. In her soft-spoken and self-assured manner, she told me of the fond memories she has of singing in the church choir with Rhonda Zingler (and the laughter and quiet conversations when the choir director was otherwise distracted). Paula spoke of her favorite thing to do: decorating the church for Christmas and Advent. It's plain to see the love that she has for serving by the way her eyes sparkle and the smile that slowly spreads across her face while she recalls these fond memories of volunteering.

Ultimately, though, this article isn't about one person. It's about one person's heart for serving the church community and for following Jesus Christ. It's an encouragement to others that they have a place and a role within the church. Paula stated that she loves to volunteer because it takes the attention off of oneself and your own burdens long enough to help redirect your heart and mind, to put your attention on what's really important. "That's why we're here", Paula says, "to worship the Lord and to try to be an example." Volunteering does come with its challenges sometimes, but it also comes with abundant reward - the kind of reward that isn't tangible, yet always present: A closer relationship with Jesus Christ.

SMALL GROUPS

As we transition with the changing of the seasons, we invite you to seize the opportunity for personal development and enrichment through our small group sessions. Currently, we have 2 small groups that convene weekly to delve into our exciting new series, Living Into Eternity. The content is thoughtfully curated to facilitate an effortless entry for all participants. If you feel inspired to take on a leadership role and guide one of these small groups, we encourage you to reach out to one of our pastors. Let's embark on this journey of learning and growth together!

PROPERTY COMMITTEE

The Property Committee has been working on numerous maintenance projects on the plumbing, HVAC, and electrical systems. We also are looking for someone to trim the lawn this year. Additionally, we are trying to select a painting contractor to paint the sanctuary sometime this year. We are also preparing for the eventual major overhaul of the original cooling system that currently cools the fellowship hall. We hope to do the upgrade in 2025 unless the system fails this year. Toward that end we are working on determining the costs of both of these projects so we can begin saving the money to cover their costs.

Please contact me if you have any suggestions to fill either the trimming or painting positions.

Greetings, I am writing to you as your new council president. I want to convey to you that I am excited to help guide the council in providing leadership to the congregation. Any time there is change, uncertainty arises, but let me assure you that this council is dedicated and poised to help Gloria Dei Connect, Grow, and Serve all of you and the community of Tomah.

In the past month the council had the opportunity to participate in a workshop provided by the LCMC for church councils. This experience was greatly beneficial for us and provided great insight into how a church council should operate and serve the congregation. During our time together, we had very good conversations and brainstormed ideas on how to improve how the council operates to provide more leadership and transparency with the congregation. We are all excited to continue these conversations and share with you our vision on how to grow our collective faith and service to Jesus. One task we have already begun working on is filling the vacant council seat as quickly as possible. Anyone interested can contact me, a pastor, or any other member of the council. Lastly, the council is currently looking into the many events and procedures that take place at our Church and how we can guide improvement, provide clearer communication, and foster a greater connection to God's will for our congregation. Please pray for the council to receive wisdom.

-Respectfully, Scott Conzemius

We would like to thank everyone who took photos of the Lenten events and sent them to the office. Photos of events are always welcome. If you have photos of special events that have happened at Gloria Dei that you would like to share, please email office@gloriadeitomah.com

PALM SUNDAY PANCAKE BREAKFAST

On Palm Sunday, the men of Gloria Dei put on a wonderful pancake breakfast. We would like to thank everyone who helped, and a special thank you goes to Glenna Rice for picking up the groceries for this event. $261 went to Chosen People Ministries due to your generous donations.

We have received wonderful feedback all around about the Lenten season, including all 7 worship services and the Lenten Dinners. Our volunteers make Gloria Dei a wonderful place to be!

LIVING LAST SUPPER

FROM THE DIRECTOR:

This is the second production of the Living Last Supper that I have been privileged to coordinate. I'm grateful for this opportunity to work with so many of our church members, some of which I hadn't met until our first rehearsal. During this Passover meal, we see Jesus washing the feet of His disciples. After showing this example of humility, love, and service; Jesus then commanded his disciples to go and serve likewise. I am thankful to the men, women and youth who joined me on this journey once again as examples of God's servants; some of which stepped out of their comfort zones and offered their time, talent and contribution to make this event a reality.

-Jennifer Conzemius, Living Last Supper Director

Here is a glimpse into the magic of the 2024 Living Last Supper production! A heartfelt thank you to all the talented cast, dedicated crew, and passionate attendees who made this year's performance an unforgettable experience. The emotional impact was palpable, with tears flowing and hearts touched by the powerful message delivered. Thank you for joining us in celebrating the artistry and depth of this moving production that left a lasting impression on all who witnessed it.

GRADUATE SUNDAY

Get ready to toss your caps in the air and toast to the future because on May 19th, 2024, we are throwing a spectacular celebration for our Graduating Seniors!

PEDER EIDE FUNDRAISER

Peder Eide is a Christian Musician. This past fall (2023), Peder was having some severe abdominal pains and after tests, it was discovered he had cancer. Peder has been on an aggressive treatment plan and has had a deep trust and faith that Jesus will reign in this situation. He has been courageously battling and encountering every opportunity in front of him. They have come to a time where they need help financially as medical care and chemotherapy are quite expensive. They both have taken time off work to fight this, with Peder recently being admitted to the hospital on Easter. Please prayerfully consider donating if you are able. You can visit <https://givesendgo.com/PederEide> to donate.

FOCUS ON THE MASTER

Therefore, since we have a great high priest who has ascended into heaven, Jesus the Son of God, let us hold firmly to the faith we profess. (Hebrews 4:14)

I cherish getting together in worship. You never know what thoughts, memories and experiences are going to be shaken loose and put together with Scripture. That is the amazing nature of God's Word. It's always living and active (Hebrews 4:12). Through it, God is always at work turning the lights on in places we've left dark.

Just a few weeks ago, a few of us were sharing stories about the animals in our lives. That reminded me of a similar story from Martin Luther's life.

Back in the 1500's, Martin & Katie Luther took in a dog. Martin named him Tolpel. Tolpel meant "clumsy" or "tipsy" in German. Dogs were seen as street animals that were worthy of no more respect than a good kick, and initially, the street dog's name reflected that sentiment. But Martin and Tolpel bonded. Tolpel taught Martin much about real devotion to the master.

One day, Martin was cooking meat over a fire. He sensed a presence in the room. There was Tolpel, eyes locked on what his master was preparing. Martin saw in Tolpel's eyes nothing but faith, saying, "Oh, if I could only pray the way this dog watches the meat! All his thoughts are concentrated on the piece of meat. Otherwise he has no thought, wish, or hope." Martin often included Tolpel in the discussions with his students. The students saw how the dog came over and sat at Martin's feet, tail wagging. Martin explained to his students that because Tolpel knows that good gifts come from the hand of his master, Tolpel's attention is completely centered on his master. Martin's dog became the prime example of the Christian life, a life lived in undistracted total devotion to God – a life of faith and trust and obedience.

The writer of the letter to the Hebrews wants us to see the truth and power of that kind of devotion. In Christ, we see the commitment and love of God. "Therefore, since we have a great high priest who has ascended into heaven, Jesus the Son of God, let us hold firmly to the faith we profess." (Hebrews 4:14).

". . . Let us hold firmly to the faith we profess." What does that mean? For me it's a reminder to listen – listen regularly to God's Word (a reminder to grab a Portals of Prayer devotional book to help you through) and to pray (have a regular conversation with God about what we're doing together). Then comes the action part. What am I going to do about what God has shown me?

Martin Luther saw it all in his dog Tolpel – not a clumsy, tipsy creature, but a creature who paid attention to his master and who confidently took his place at his master's side. He was totally focused.

So may we all Keep and Live the Faith.

- Pr. David G. Dahl

SEASONS CHANGE

“For everything there is a season, and a time for every matter under heaven.” – Ecclesiastes 3:1

This week, I decided it was finally safe to put the shovels away. At this point, I certainly hope we don’t see any more of that white stuff for many months! The season has dramatically changed in the last few weeks, and for many of us, after the snowstorm on April 2nd and 3rd, it is a most welcome change.

We know that seasons change. We live them.

But the changes in our weather aren’t the only seasons that we experience in our life. In fact, King Solomon wrote in Ecclesiastes that “for everything there is a season.” Solomon gives many examples of “changing seasons” in chapter 3. He says: our life in its entirety is but a season in the greater concept of time. There is a planting season and a harvest season, times of sadness and times of laughter, seasons to save and store, and there are times to spend and give.

For many of us, the warmer weather isn’t the only change of season happening right now. We have some in our congregation getting married soon! Some of our families are expecting babies. Many of you are entering into a time each year that you define as “camping season.” We have graduating seniors who are ending this season of life and heading off to college in the fall, and we have college seniors who are graduating and taking jobs – some in other places in the country. These are just a few of the ways that our lives change over the course of time, and these kinds of things happen all through life!

At the end of the list of seasons in Ecclesiastes 3, Solomon says God has made everything beautiful in its time. You know, these kinds of changes are often wonderful, but there are also changing seasons that are painful and filled with sorrow. Times of scarcity and hardship remind us that God (and not His good gifts) are all we need. Embrace it, focus on what is most important, and prepare for times of plenty.

We may not know why things happen, but we can rest assured that God knows, and it is all part of His glorious plan. Those uncomfortable seasons can last days or weeks, months or even years! But God is in control through all these seasons of life, and He is good to us. It may not always look like it, but God sees things from a different angle, a better and eternal perspective, and He makes everything beautiful in its time!

Because of that, Solomon says in Ecclesiastes 3:12-13 that the best thing for mankind in whatever we do in any season is to be joyful, “do good” as long as we live, and take pleasure in our toil or work, whatever it is. He says that this is God’s gift to man. In other words, He’s in control so enjoy yourselves! Isn’t that kind of a fun thought?!

Sometimes, changes in our life cause fear. By nature, we don’t always like change especially when we don’t see the “good”. But whether you’re graduating from high school or college or changing long-time careers, getting married or having a baby, moving or retiring, or even moving into the twilight of this life, remember that God is in control, He’s good to you, and He’ll take care of you, so enjoy whatever God has in store for your next season of life! And always feel blessed

–Pastor Kay
